

AIA Dallas Women in Architecture Presents:

You've Got 5 Minutes

On behalf of the AIA Dallas Women in Architecture, we invite you to apply to present at our next event 'You've Got 5 Minutes' on Wednesday, September 24.

Our YG5M: Express Yourself is intended to showcase women's creativity in architecture and design (both built and unbuilt). Eight women will be selected, and each woman will be given 5 minutes to present their project/ design (from their submission).

Submission Guidelines:

1. The competition is open to all women practicing or studying in the field of architecture in the DFW community.
2. Entrants can present on any design or project they have worked on, either individually or with a group. We specifically would like entrants to submit a design/project that has great meaning to them as a woman in the industry.
3. If you submit a group project, please include their names/ firms in the application and presentation (if selected).
4. There are no restrictions on project completion dates and submissions can describe projects that are conceptual, planned, or realized.
5. Entrants must complete the application and email the completed applications to Attn: Amanda Adler & Diana Anda at dallaswia@gmail.com by 6pm on Wednesday, August 27th.
6. Attach presenter headshot along with your application. (to be used for our marketing and programs)
7. The Jury will select 8 presenters and will notify all entrants by Wednesday, Sept. 3rd
8. The 8 entrants elected to present at the event will be asked to submit their PowerPoint or PDF presentation by 6pm on Friday, September 19th.

We look forward to seeing your application!
